

AT HOME WITH FRIENDS

Of the many great escapes from the city, the short weekend getaway to the hills is the most tempting. The easy camaraderie of a trip made with friends. Two, three couples driving up together, to the mountains for a weekend retreat, or a longer summer holiday. But where? Not the ordinary humdrum of a builder house. But a new place, born out of the mountain location, informal and friendly. A lifestyle, as easy and natural as your own.

At myhomeinthehills, each home is compact and entirely private, but extending into a long verandah, overlooking the snow-peaks. The verandah is your space with friends, to lounge in the day, share a barbeque together. In the evening, drinks and dinner outside, before retreating to the privacy of your own cottage.
